It all started when, oh wait my name is Corey Eaton, now where was I. Oh yes, it all started when I woke up. I guess I forgot I was sleeping under my T.V. shelf. Because I bonked my head and the T.V. came crashing down and I got knocked out. It was 12:00 when I woke up. Oh no I'm late then I ran to the calendar. Whoo! it was Saturday.

When I went downstairs my mom already had lunch ready so I guess I'll have to miss the most important meal of the day. I gulped down the last piece of macaroni and cheese then I ran to the computer and went on animation.com . Did I mention I like to draw cartoons? Here are some names; Henry Hippo, Gummy, Harry, Spike and many more.

Sunday passed. Then it was Monday. I went into music class and when Mr. Feldman turned on the music I saw Henry Hippo dancing with a hula skirt. It must have been that big bump on my head from the T.V. Then when I went to bed I saw Spike, he said "The world was going to end and I had to save it from the evil 'Goober'". I thought who would be called 'Goober'?

Well, anyway I'm off to save the world. So the next day I asked Spike how we were going to get there. He said, "Through the T.V." So then I saw Henry Hippo, Gummy, Spike and Harry jump in. Before they jumped in they told me to turn the T.V. to channel 96. That's the Sci-Fi channel. When we jumped in the T.V., it was so gloomy and droopy, and don't forget scary. Then when we got over the hill, I saw all the cartoons I've thought of, even when I was 3.

"There's the enemy on the other hill", I said. Then I saw Goober on a medium sized Godzilla. He was ugly. "We have to fight them", I said. The radioman started playing "Eye of the Tiger". The war had started. Henry Hippo ran over to the other side and ate some of "Chocolate Moose." Then Spike got bubble wrap and stomped on it and it scared most of them. Then we all ran and fought. All that was left was Goober. Then Big Al sneezed and started an avalanche and it covered Goober. Digger dug through the rocks. Then Big Al picked up Goober and he woke up. Big Al said, "May I do the honors". I said, "Sure!" So Big Al flicked him into the garbage disposal. So we jumped out of the T.V

So I ended the day going to bed just waiting for more adventures.
